Coal-Burning Turbs. May Revive Declining Mines

OTTAWA (CP)—Coal-burning turbine engines, infinitely more economical than diesel engines, may inject new life into Canada's declining coal mining industry.

A hint of these developments was given the Senate transport committee Thursday by N. J. MacMillan, vice-president and general counsel of the Canadian National Railways.

During discussion of CNR plans to buy about 150 more oil-burning diesel engines this year, Senator Gordon Innes (L-Nova Scotia) drew Mr. MacMillan's attention to the plight of the local mining industry, suffering from loss of markets which once included a coal-burning turbine.

ASKED OF DEVELOPMENTS

Senator Innes asked if there have been any developments in the research project at McGill University in Montreal to develop a coal-burning turbine.

Mr. MacMillan replied that the CNR is watching the project closely. Those associated with it believe it possible to build a coal-burning turbine "infinitely more efficient than the diesel engine."

The only serious problem in the project is that of disposing of the ash created by burning the powdered coal, he said.

It has been found that the ash cannot be exhausted except through the turbine. This causes pitting on the turbine blades which eventually throws the engine out of operation and creates high maintenance costs.

DIFFICULTIES PRESENTED

Senator Thomas Vienne (L-Quebec) asked if there is any likelihood of atomic power being used for railway engines.

Mr. MacMillan said atomic power presents two big difficulties. One was that the equipment necessary to dispose of the heat generated requires space that now would be occupied by three railway cars. In addition, the atomic power plant now requires shielding five feet in thickness as protection against radiation.

However, the really major problem from the railway's standpoint was that in the event of an accident the protective box containing the atomic power plant might be broken, spilling atomic radiation over the surrounding countryside.

and Mrs. Sam Silverhorn of Blairmore, and prior to this they had resided at the home of Mrs. Silverhorn's father, Gus Lauf at Oliver, B.C. On completion of his leave Sgt. Silverhorn will return to the RCAF station at Ottawa and await posting.

A Laughing Matter?

Years ago when feuds were common in the hill country a clansman was attacked by his enemies. They shot the old man through his chest, killed his dog, and burned his cabin.

When I arrived, I asked the old fellow if he were in much pain.

"No," he answered, "but my chest hurts when I laugh real hard."

Report of The Research Council On Coal

In connection with the projected paleobotanical program, Council can report that an appropriate laboratory has been set up and partially equipped, and that some progress has been made in the development of suitable maceration and softening techniques. Aimed at the isolation of micro-fossils and at the preparation of sections suitable for an in situ study of micro-structure, these techniques must necessarily be extremely flexible of they are to be applicable to the wide range of coals occurring in the province. When fully developed, it is planned to employ them in a long-term study devoted to tracing the shifting species-composition of the flora represented in the Alberta coal measures and to elucidating the biological genesis of these deposits.

Progress has also been made in setting up an organic chemistry laboratory which will concentrate upon a study of the chemical constitution of coal and humic acids and, in particular, upon a detailed investigation of products obtained from interactions between coal and liquids in an ultrasonic field and from pyrolysis of coal in the presence of chain-inhibiting reagents. A review paper dealing with the chemical potential of coal was read at the annual convention of the CIMM in April 1953 and published in the CIMM Bulletin and Transactions of September 1953.

Fundamental studies of the colloid structure of Alberta coals, which were commenced late in 1952, were also continued during 1953, and data relating to the total accessible surface areas of Alberta coals (obtained by a heat of wetting technique) are now available for a representative coal series. In general, the variation of surface area with coal rank assumes the same form as that previously found with British and British Commonwealth coals.

Using the heat of wetting method, it has further been shown that pressures of the order of those obtaining in coal seams are adequate to cause a very substantial and irreversible compression of the coal substance and a significant decrease in its accessible surface. The available information suggests that a reformulation of the concept of "coal rank" may result from this work.

Finally, measurements have been made of the absorption of quines quite a number of adjust-25 deg. and -40 deg. C. The results confirm that coal is an essentially thermolabile solid which, on cooling, contracts in such a manner as to render its accessible pore volume progressively smaller as the temperature falls.

Information on Coal

Reference has already been made to a number of papers prepared during the year by members of the coal staff. In addition, a report is in preparation on the stoker investigation and progress has been made in the revision of Report No. 35, "Coals of Alberta - Their Occurrence, Analysis and Utilization". A pamphlet, "Alberta Coals - What You Should Know About Them", prepared by the Research Council of Alberta in cooperation with the Fuel Division, Federal Department of Mines and Technical Surveys and the Dominion Coal Board, and published by the Alberta Department of Economic Affairs, is now ready for distribution.

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,

Coleman Journal,
Coleman, Alberta,

Dear Sir,

I wish to say a few words of appreciation on behalf of the Coleman Junior Baseball club, for the help we received in holding our first home games, Sunday, June 13.

To the fans, we wish to say thank you, for turning out in such numbers, even though the weather appeared threatening. We hope to see those fans again, and others, when the weather becomes ideal.

To those persons, who were directly responsible for our success, again we can only say "thank you" as other words will not suffice. We wish to say special thanks to the following: to Mr. Bill Holyk, for use of his station wagon for announcing; to the Sports Ass'n for the use of the P.A. system; to Mr. Jim Wilkie for use of batteries to operate the P.A. To Mr. Abousaffy for opening the first game, to Mr. L. Richards who took time out to set up the P.A. system.

Special mention must be made of Mrs. Joe Wavrean and Mr. George Jenkins who gave up their time and forfeited seeing the major parts of the games because they volunteered to collect at the gates. To Mrs. Nora Gouding and her staff of girls, who have volunteered to operate the concession booth for all our home games. "Thank you" to Mr. Joe Wavrean, Mr. Bill Fields and Mrs. Bill Gater for willingly accepting the unpopular position of umpires; to Mr. Spillers, for operating the P.A. system during the games.

There were many who, directly or indirectly, helped the club. We cannot fail to mention those parents who give up the family car, in order that the boys can play their out-of-town games. Without their generosity we would not function as a member club in the league. To all above mentioned and to those we may have overlooked, let us assure you of our appreciation.

We must apologize to the clergy of Coleman for interfering with their Sunday morning services. We tried not to use the P.A. system in the vicinity of the churches. Due to morning chill, the car windows were shut and we did not realize the volume was too high, with the result that we interfered with the services, even when we were a considerable distance from the churches. We hope our apology will be accepted with the guarantee that such an incident will not happen again.

Sincerely,
E. Mascherin
Coach Coleman Junior
Baseball club.

Dear Sir:

Our club is anxious to establish a branch of the Alberta Association for the handicapped in the Crows Nest Pass district. However we need help in contacting the handicapped people who might be interested in such a club. Would it be possible for you to help us with this?

If a meeting of these people could be arranged, our club will send a delegation to help in organizing it, and explaining the aims and purposes of our Association.

If you find it impossible to do this can you suggest any club or organization which might help? We will be interested in hearing from you.

Yours truly,
Jack R. Schile, Sec.

UNITED CHURCH FORMS
ONE CHARGE FOR PASS

A combined meeting of all official boards and congregations was held in the Blairmore United church Monday under the chairmanship of Rev. Geo. Young, of Taber.

It was the unanimous decision of the meeting to administer the Pass area as a single charge with the services of two ordained ministers. Comprising this charge will be Coleman, Blairmore, Bellevue and Hillcrest, Cowley having the option to join should they desire.

This arrangement will be in force for one year, the ministers serving the area being Rev. Chub and Rev. Blair McPherson.

A committee representing the present congregations of the various churches will meet in August to set up the new administration. This committee will be composed of one elder and two members of the board of stewards from each church.

Wedding Bells

DEGROOT - MICHALSKY

On Sunday, June 6 at 10:30 a.m. the Holy Ghost Church in Coleman was the scene of a pretty wedding when Connie DeGroot youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete DeGroot exchanged marriage vows with Ted Michalsky, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Michalsky.

The bride looked lovely attired in a white lace over satin cocktail length gown and carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Joan Hirst, chose a Nile green, net over taffeta cocktail length gown and carried a bouquet of carnations.

The bride's elder sister, Mrs. Stanley Osiovy, acted as matron of honor, and was gownned in yellow net over taffeta, and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's cousin, Mr. Allan DeGroot, of Pincher Creek, attended the room, and Mr. Stanley Osiovy ushered.

The bride's mother wore a navy afternoon dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a brown suit dress, with matching accessories.

Very Rev. Dean Sullivan celebrated the wedding mass with Mrs. Maurer at the organ and the senior choir conducted by Peter Zatzko sang the mass.

At 12:30 noon 44 honored guests sat down to a lovely chicken dinner at the home of the bride's parents, with Dean Sullivan proposing the toast to the bride.

Out of town guests were from Blairmore, Bellevue, Edmonton, and Pincher Creek.

For a honeymoon the couple travelled to Calgary, Banff and other B. C. points.

We Must Beware Of Imitating The Crab...

He, unfortunately, backs into his future, looking at the past. He's still trying to live in the past and apparently is afraid of the future.

And unfortunately there are apt to be several merchants and business men who will imitate the crab and not join the ranks of the new, up-to-the-minute business men who are planning for the future and have already made plans for new methods of merchandising. Those men are including regular advertising campaigns in their plans, and they are planning to use the best medium within their means - their local newspaper - The JOURNAL.

People who know how to sell know that newspaper advertising is the way to build sales.

A lean horse for a long race is a wise expression. A lean body for a long life is equally wise, because the death rate from heart disease is 50% greater for those who are overweight.

Physicians are agreed that the first year of life should be the year of immunization. Otherwise, many children will die needlessly of the preventable diseases of infancy and childhood.

How many gallons
in a pay cheque?

More than ever before!

Back in 1939, for instance the average
Canadian weekly pay cheque would buy

84 gallons of gasoline... based on figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Today's weekly pay cheque will buy 144 gallons, including the provincial gasoline tax, which is considerably higher than before the war.

To put it another way... in 1939 the average

Canadian worked 33 minutes to earn enough to buy one gallon of gasoline.

Today he works

just 17 minutes, or about half the time.

And today's Esso gives more miles

and better performance

than ever before.
